WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Master Farm Family Award
Again this year the Dept. of Agriculture is carrying on this program. The purpose of this program is to honor farm families who have achieved success in farming, homemaking and citizenship, to provide a demonstration of farm and family progress, to draw attention to the advantages of farming and to the dignity of rural life, to set before the rising generation the higher ideals of agriculture and the opportunities of rural citizenship.

To be eligible for this award the requirements are:

1. The family must be Canadian citizens.
2. The head of the family must be the owner-operator or lease-operator of the farm.
3. The head of the family must have spent at least 20 consecutive years in actual operation of a farm in his own right and not in partnership. On the part of veterans, time in service is accepted as farming time.
4. No family is eligible whose standing in the program had been made possible by revenue from sources other than farming.

Nominations for this award must be made on the proper form, signed by at least three neighbors and accepted by the nominee. The papers must then be filed with the District Agriculturist. Nomination papers and full information are available from your District Agriculturist. Nominations must be in by June 1, 1957.

Machinery
Has that machinery all been checked over, properly greased and adjusted so as to be ready to go. Many valuable hours are lost each year the machinery is not looked at until it is time to take it into the field. It's late enough now but you still might save half a day of field working time. When you are finished with the seeding equipment why not check it for needed repairs, clean out drills and fertilizer attachments, and grease all moving parts before putting it away again.

Another Pest
There are a lot of Starlings showing up throughout this district. These short-tailed blackbirds are a terrible pest in other parts of the country. We would be well advised to prevent them from getting established here if we can.

Secreds Organize At Viking Meeting

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.

If any man serve Me, let him follow Me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be; if any man serve Me, let him follow Me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MARION DARLING

On Wednesday evening, April 17 a number of ladies from the community gathered in the United Church basement to honor a bride of two weeks, Mrs. Ian Harrison (nee Marion Darling).

Marion on arrival was escorted to a counter which represented a red and white store by Alice Tomlinson to the strains of "Here Comes the Bride." Lorraine Smallwood gave a few words of welcome. Then Lorraine Pond conducted a contest on kinds of flowers. Carole Smallwood said a recitation entitled "A Maiden's Prayer" which was enjoyed by all. Della Symington gave another contest. Then the grade 11 girls accompanied by Verla Prior sang a song composed just for Marion. Norma Wilkerson had a contest on naming different kinds of nuts. To bring the program to a close a skit was presented which showed Marion's last school days and the new vocation she has chosen.

Lorraine Smallwood spoke a few words to honor Marion and Barbara Murray wheeled in a cash register full of presents.

Then the bride assisted by her mother, her sisters Jean and Doris and her grandmother opened the gifts. After the many presents were opened and passed around Marion expressed her sincere thanks and invited everyone to her new home in Hardisty.

The hostesses, Mrs. Anquist, Mrs. Rick Larson and Mrs. Symington assisted by more ladies of the town served a delicious lunch.

DON'T FALL FOR THIS $10 TRICK
Are you looking for a quick easy method of getting rid of Canada Thistle in your yard or field?

If so, don't fall for an advertisement in some American publications being circulated in western Canada offering a sure-fire method of getting rid of the weed if you send along a $10 bill.

The warning comes from officials of the Canadian department of agriculture at Lethbridge.

The advertisement says no chemicals or poisons are needed to get rid of the prickly weed and there is no loss in yield.

The advice offered for the ten-spot is that you take a hoe and dig to the thistle patch and cut off the weed.

The advertisement is apparently within the law and nothing can be done against it, already has fallen for the trick but federal department of agriculture officials explain that while the advice may be good it is worth $10—Lethbridge Herald.

The C.G.I.T. will hold a Mothers Day Tea, Sale of Confections and Home Baking in the church basement on Saturday afternoon, May 11.

May Weather For Alberta

Generally speaking, May will be warm and dry. Temperatures will average up to three degrees above the usual for this time of year, with warmest (in relation to normal) being experienced in the northeastern part of the province.

Although the three intervals of normal are noted on the timing bar they are expected to be quite light storms and precipitation will generally average below normal. May will be similar to last year when warm and dry conditions were also experienced. Outside work should pick up considerably with interruptions few and far between during this forecast period.

WEDDING BELLS FRICKELTON — FAHNER

Pink, white and yellow roses and blue, white and pink streamers formed an attractive setting March 30 at the Westminster Presbyterian church, Chauvin, for the early afternoon ceremony in which Miss Maxine Ann Fahner exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Malcolm James Frickelton.

Rev. George Anderson officiated at the double ring ceremony for the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Fahner of Chauvin, and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frickelton of Edmonton.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white nylon net of a double strand of white tulle in a very full skirt of net over white satin. The strapless bodice was modified with a lace bolero jacket that buttoned down the front and had a Peter Pan collar and tapered sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion net was edged in white lace and misted from a headpiece of matching nylon lace embroidered with pearls. As her only jewellery she wore the groom's gift of a double strand of pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses intermingled with stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Harris attended the bride as maid of honor and Miss Lois Stone, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid.

They were identical, ballerina-length gowns of nylon chiffon, styled on princess lines in shades of blue and pink, respectively.

Matching bandeaux of nylon net were pinned to the hair and they carried nosegays of mixed spring flowers. As jewellery they wore earrings, gifts of the bride and groom.

Mr. Mike Yakamovich and Mr. Gerald McLeod acted as groomsmen. Guests were ushered to the altar by pink and white roses and streamers by Mr. Lewis Fahner, brother of the bride, and Mr. James S. Frickelton.

The wedding music and during the signing of the register Mr. H. C. Nissen of Irma accompanied her with a violin solo "O Promise Me."

Later at a reception held later at the Legion Hall, the bride's mother wore a blue afternoon dress accented with white accessories and white carnations in corsage. The groom's mother wore a blue flowered afternoon dress with blue accessories. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table, decorated with lighted candles and vases of white pink and yellow roses, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embedded in pink tulle and roses.

A telegram was received by the brideal couple from Edmonton friends unable to attend the wedding. Rev. George Anderson proposed the toast to the bride.

The groom's best man, Mr. and Mrs. Vandy Davies acted as toastmaster. Miss Barbara McLeod was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception, openhouse was held at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a dance in the Legion Hall.

For a wedding trip to Edmonton and points south the bride donned a suit to match that of the groom and complemented with red accessories. A corsage of red roses and white carnations was pinned at her shoulder.

A number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding.

Men Who Make Alberta

Since the beginning of time, sickness has been the greatest enemy of man... and, in no other field, has more success been attained than in the struggle to combat disease. A constant, never-ending battle has and is being waged by an army of men whose life has been dedicated to the job of healing their fellow men. Diseases that only a few years ago were horrible destroyers of human life are today only minor causes for concern. Diseases which annually take many lives, are today being brought under control by the men who answer the call of the sick and suffering, anytime, anywhere, in all types of weather.

Unfortunately, as disease is gradually brought under control, man is finding new ways to destroy himself... on the highways... in industrial and home accidents, and in periodic and ever more destructive wars. So the battle to relieve suffering, to prevent death, to cure the crippled and to teach the maimed to lead a useful life, never ends. Today in Alberta, just as in pioneer times, we turn when tragedy strikes towards the man who by his training and understanding can ease our pain and make us well again. The man whose life is dedicated to the service of others.

Cliff Smallwood Says Favorable Reports Heard at Annual Co-op Creamery Meeting

If the weather stays good I'll be having a date with the old tractor by the time this appears in print. Campaigning will have to take second place to spring work for a while!

With preparations for spring work going on everywhere in the constituency perhaps this is a good time to say a few things about Progressive-Conservative farm policy. Conservatives believe that no prosperity can be lasting unless it is shared by the people on the land. Accordingly, we are alarmed at the drift of farm people away from the countryside to more profitable employment in the cities. The abandoned farmhouse is as much a feature of our present industrial development as is the new factory, the urban subdivision, or the natural gas pipeline. So long as this is true we know that something is seriously wrong.

What will a Conservative government do if elected to power? First of all it will do all within its power to collect the facts about the relationship of agriculture with representatives of federal and provincial governments and farm organizations will be called to analyze the trade situation and make recommendations. A royal commission will look into the spread between what the consumer pays and the farmer receives for his product.

Many questions will have to be asked. Are freight rates too high or too low? How does the wage level in Canadian manufacturing affect the cost of grain production? Is Canadian grain too expensive to find a market in India and other countries of dense population?

When the facts have been collected policies will be revised in the light of the new information. Permanent floor price policies will have to be adopted. Marketing legislation will be passed. Efforts will be made to regain foreign markets. A farm credit policy will be set up.

In his recent speech in Saskatoon John Defenbacher spoke of the Progressive-Conservative national development policy. "Agriculture and its welfare is a basic cornerstone in that policy," he stated. That sums it up pretty well, I think. And after over twenty years of neglect can we ask for more of a change that that?

Sincerely,

CLIFF SMALLWOOD.
(Signed by Battle River Conservative Progressive-Conservative Association)

The Annual Meeting of the Viking Co-operative Creamery Association Ltd., was held in the Community Hall in Viking on April 13. Some 45 shareholders were present, with a few non-shareholder patrons also attending.

In giving his report to the meeting on behalf of the Board of Directors, Mr. J. Roddick, the president, expressed the Board's sincere appreciation to the people whose interest in the affairs of their Co-op had brought them to the meeting. He also thanked those Co-operators whose patience the creamery had continued to enjoy throughout the past. In this respect the president said "This spirit of loyalty and co-operation are very roots and foundation of your creamery indeed and are the very roots and foundation of the Co-operative movement as a whole."

The creamery had again proved it could hold its own in quality and workmanship. In 1956 they had won the Championship at the Toronto Royal Agricultural Fair, the Reserve Championship at the Western Fair in London, Ont., as well as 2 out of 5 prizes for the best five exhibits of butter in the Western. First were received at the Exhibition of Manitoba and the CNE. The creamery took second in the Best Kept Grounds and Plant competition as well as receiving prizes in the inter-provincial competition, the First Grade Butter Competition, while the buttermilk and grader both received their Proficiency Certificates for efficiency in their daily work.

The president reported that while production was lower than for the previous year, the grades had held up well with 99.4% Special and First Grade cream received as compared to 99.1% for 1955.

Forecasts on production of cream for butter manufacture indicate a national decline. With Canadian consumption on the increase it does not appear that large surpluses would be a matter of immediate concern. Your own creamery has a market for more butter than it can normally expect to receive in the Viking area, so can readily market every pound of butter produced.

Financially your Association is in a stronger position than at any time during the past ten years, with the working capital position in very good shape. Financing has been easier and savings have been made by quantity discounts that have helped to offset price increases.

The Board had attended meetings regularly, and committees had met with the auditors, who reported the administration and accounting as being very good, and that financing of the Association was being done in the best interests of the Shareholders.

The two new Directors, Mr. S. Klein and Mr. C. Keast, had taken an active part in the board meetings and a keen interest in the affairs of the Association.

Two directors had to be elected as the term of office for Mr. T. Berg and Mr. C. A. Nordstrom had expired.

The president closed his address by asking the Shareholders and Patrons to continue to support their Association as only in this way could it be the kind of Co-operative it should be.

In the Manager's Report, Mr. Taylor covered the production problems and its effect on the overall picture. Sales were in ratio with production and were well below the potential market. Finances were in a very sound position and credit at a very good standing.

Costs had been cut in nearly all items of expense, and the installing of cost accounting, cost records, monthly inventory and inventory control were now having their full effect in giving control of operations. The staff were now becoming cost conscious and were co-operating very well. Operations during the year had taken careful consideration and handling which had resulted in greater efficiency. Some work had been set aside from operations against the eventual payment of the Deferred Final Payments, and this money was at present drawing interest for the Association.

Mr. Taylor reported that all indications from market reports received indicated a continued decline in the production of butter throughout the Dominion, so that markets should remain good. With a good potential in sales every can of cream shipped to Viking would mean better returns to the producer.

In closing Mr. Taylor said that Public Relations were the responsibility of every one connected with the Co-operative and not just the Board of Directors.

This means that the Management, Staff and the Patrons and Shareholders were in the long run responsible for public relations. If the shipper who owns the creamery would get out and sell the idea their creamery was a good creamery they could do more than the talking from a management level. He asked that the manager be invited to district meetings where he could answer questions directly, and help to correct false rumors or erroneous reports in regards to the creamery. Mr. Taylor stated Mr. Nordstrom to make the Creamery in Viking a headquarters for Co-op information. Also that the Creamery could only be built to what it should be by the help of the producers and owners salesmanship and co-operation. Given their full support and Mr. Taylor said there was no reason why their Creamery in Viking could not pay returns in comparison to any other organization.

After the Auditors report had been covered, Mr. Roddick introduced Mr. Ray Dixon, the guest speaker. Mr. Dixon, a member of the staff of the Dairy Branch, Department of Agriculture, and is in charge of Dairy Herd Improvement.

Mr. Dixon expressed his appreciation at being able to attend the meeting, which was the first of this kind he attended.

He had found it very interesting. He also expressed Mr. McCallum's regrets at not being able to attend.

In his talk Mr. Dixon pointed out that what was happening in the Dairy Industry throughout the country was important to the producer as well as to the manufacturer. In this respect he gave a brief outline of the dairy situation as it exists today, pointing out that the answer to production for use in making butter is largely in the hands of the mixed farmer. This could be most easily done by increasing the production per cow, which in a well balanced farm program would bring better returns to the farmer. A program of herd improvement with reduced cost per cow could be achieved by taking advantage of the services available through the Dairy Branch. Herd record books, sample bottles and dipper are provided in a box for shipping the samples to the Provincial Dairy Lab for testing. At the end of the lactation period a complete record for each cow would then be available and poor producers could be culled out of the herd to be replaced with a good producer. 4H Dairy Club in the area would be an incentive to better average dairy herds, as well as giving the younger people a good start and the training to operate a balanced farm program.

Mr. Dixon also stated that the use of a good Dairy bull or taking advantage of Artificial Insemination programs where ever possible were essential to building a high producing herd. In the final analysis it did not cost any more to feed, care for and milk a good producing cow than a poor one, but the return per cow and per man hour of labor were much greater with a good producer. Mr. Dixon's talk was very well received by those present.

Mr. C. A. Nordstrom was re-elected and Mr. A. Toverud elected to fill Tom Berg's place on the Board of Directors for a 3 year term.

The President spoke in appreciation of Mr. Berg's 24 years of service on the Board and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to him.

"Stag Party" For Mr. H. Skjeie

(From The Viking News)

The Chamber of Commerce held a "stag party" at the curling rink last Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Harold Skjeie who has been a valued member for the past years. After the lunch hour Mr. Skjeie was presented with a brief case as a token of esteem and best wishes extended for his future as a citizen of Calgary where Mr. and Mrs. Skjeie plan to make their future home. The entertainment was short so that those present could attend the Elks and bacon bingo in the community hall.

Mr. Skjeie thanked the C. of C. for their gift and good wishes.

News Report from Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON — The alertness of an Opposition member during the late stages of the Legislature apparently stopped the government from acting against its own policy and that of the House on producer marketing boards.

As a result, there will be a government to marketing of eggs producers this spring before a plebiscite is held, to prevent the possibility of a minority forcing a compulsory marketing board on all Alberta poultrymen.

In preparing plans for a possible introduction of a province-wide egg board this spring, the government (probably unintentionally) was creating a situation where 10 percent or less of the poultrymen could conceivably have made the final decision.

It was brought to light by Gint MacEwan, Calgary, the Liberal party's agriculture spokesman, who noticed something wrong when he read a newspaper story outlining plans for the egg board and for a plebiscite to be held among producers in June.

Under the Agricultural Products Marketing Act passed in 1955, a board can be set up if 51 percent of the registered producers of a specific product vote in favor.

As it was being organized by the agriculture department, producers who wanted to vote would have to register voluntarily. Presumably, then, if only 10 percent registered and 51 percent of those voted in favor, a board would be established.

This could have been dangerous, because once a board is established all producers would be compelled to market through it. It hasn't yet been proven conclusively that the majority of poultrymen favor a producer-controlled marketing board, but under the government procedure it might have been easy for those who do favor the idea to "stack" the vote, particularly if those who aren't interested neglected to register.

Mr. MacEwan pointed out that this was contrary to the principle laid down when the House passed the act. The principle at the time was that any possible precaution against a minority having control.

The government took the stand that in view of the compulsory features there should be no boards unless a clear majority of producers wanted them. It resisted demands from farm groups which wanted the voting restrictions relaxed to require a two-third majority of those who actually cast ballots rather than a majority of those entitled to vote.

As soon as Mr. MacEwan raised the matter, Premier Manning jumped to his feet and promised the government would look into it. Within a day or so an amendment was introduced providing for the enumeration.

With the enumeration, the government will know exactly how many producers are entitled to vote, and unless 51 percent vote in favor there will be no board.

Meanwhile, the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, the Farmers' Union of Alberta and the Alberta Poultry Federation, which have been promoting the marketing board idea, will have to drum up a lot of support if they want to be successful in setting up the province's first board.

ON TO OTTAWA — The June 10 federal election will see Social Credit making its biggest bid for national office, and Alberta cabinet ministers will be playing a major part in the campaign.

It started with a monster rally in Toronto last week, Premier Manning of Alberta, Premier Bennett of B.C., national leader Solon Low and other party luminaries were there. The eastern papers quickly labelled the two premiers and the leader the "three wise men of Social Credit."

Don't be a bit surprised if the oil and gas royalty dividend in Alberta and the tax rebate scheme in B.C. are used extensively as election bait in other parts of Canada. Surely it's no coincidence that the scheme was introduced in the year of a federal election.

Carl Heckbert

Your Federal Liberal Candidate for Battle River-Camrose

The ELECTION DATE having been set for June 10, the people of our Constituency will naturally be thinking about how they propose to vote.

Carl Heckbert extends a cordial invitation to the Electors to support his candidacy, with a view to securing direct representation in the House, which we have not had for many years.

In the last General Election the Social Credit candidate had a majority of 4707 over his nearest opponent, the Liberal candidate. In the bye-election of 1955 this majority was REDUCED to a mere 342, indicating a sincere desire of our electors for positive action. This noticeable swing is growing every day.

If we are to have a better deal for Western agriculture we should have representatives INSIDE the Government Party and not OUTSIDE. In the last Parliament there were 170 Liberals in the Government caucus, only 10 of them were from the Prairie Provinces.

June 10 offers a chance to increase the proportion of Western members. We should take advantage of it.

Let's put HECKBERT in the "HOUSE" and take advantage of his experience and his intense interest in agriculture.

IN CANADA we have few cities likely to be attacked as primary targets. We have a vast country with few centres of dense population. We have an excellent transportation service and now in the final stages of development a distant early warning system. BUT... if war should ever come, the skies of Canada might well be the scene of the vital air battle and we are likely to receive bombs dropped from enemy aircraft on secondary targets or through damage to the aircraft.

Fortunately, all - out atomic warfare would likely last a matter of days rather than of weeks or months.

If we are prepared with knowledge and planning, if our people understand what to do and are ready and willing to do it under rugged survival conditions, Canada and Canadians have a good chance of survival and of rehabilitation.

Attends Training School For Lutheran Laymen

SASKATOON, Sask. — Sam Klein of Viking participated in a special training school for Lutheran laymen here recently, April 6, 7, sponsored by the Stewardship Department of The Evangelical Lutheran Church (ELC) with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn.

The sessions here were held at Luther Theological Seminary, with the Rev. Orval Schmidt and Mr. Tillman S. Stevens, ELC stewardship counselors (both of Minneapolis), conducting the training school—part of a series of sessions being conducted throughout the ELC's ten districts in Canada and the U.S.

Purpose of the school was to instruct laymen from the ELC's Canada district (including 21,256 members in 200 congregations) in techniques of the "Every Member-Visit" (EMV), a planned program for developing stewardship practices among individual members of local congregations.

School participants will become "circuit training directors" among congregations in their home area, and as unpaid volunteers, they will assist nearby ELC congregations to conduct parish-wide visitations of their memberships in the fall—climaxed by visits to homes of fellow-members on Stewardship Sunday, November 10.

Last year, 170 laymen became "circuit training directors" after attending the special schools, with local congregations using their services reporting greatly increased pledges for support of parish programs.

Canadian congregations which took part in the EMV program last year reported an average increase of 22.4 percent in pledged support of congregational programs for 1957.

April showers have also been abundant, the last few days which should insure a good crop of grass for all these new calves.

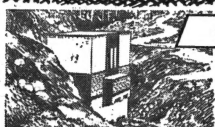

Twin calves are very fashionable these days. On the Olsen farm there have already appeared 3 sets. From time to time we have reported other sets of twin calves in the Times this spring and were not surprised when the famous Elsie cow of advertising fame also produced twins according to all the magazines.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. M. Enger at Easter were Mr. and Mrs. J. Enger and grandson Kelly Smith of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Holt and sons Donald and Norman of Kamloops. They all attended a gathering of the Enger family at Camrose at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Davis. There were 25 members present.
